

Visual Art reviews: David Mach: The Paper to Prove It | John Busby: Silent Landscape | David Batchelor: My Own Private Bauhaus | Nicole Farhi: Writing Heads

Nicole Farhi: Writing Heads, Fine Art Society * * * *

Finally, in Writing Heads at the Fine Art Society, Nicole Farhi, best known as a fashion designer, reveals herself also to be a talented sculptor with a set of heads of famous authors. Here, all posthumous, are 25 celebrated writers, Muriel Spark, Doris Lessing, Albert Camus, Virginia Woolf, Ernest Hemingway and others, all represented in miniature coloured busts. The ones on display are in painted ciment fondu, but if you would like one they can be cast in bronze. You could have a desktop author of your choice to keep you inspired.

Published: 10:15
Saturday 24 August 2019

---

David Mach until 8 September; John Busby until 2 September; David Batchelor until 28 September; Nicole Farhi until 31 August

Duncan Macmillan